

Demonstrative Adjectives and Demonstrative Pronouns

Lyrics by GrammarFlip

This, that, these, and those—
Demonstratives are words you know.
Pronouns or adjectives—they play their part,
With just a little practice, you'll know them by heart!

This apple is fresh; that tree is tall;
Demonstrative adjectives describe them all.
But if I say, "This is ripe," or "That is dry,"
They're pronouns now, and let me tell you why!

This, that, these, and those—
Demonstratives are words you know.
Pronouns or adjectives—they play their part,
With just a little practice, you'll know them by heart!

These books are new; those chairs are old;
Demonstratives describe, yeah you're on a roll.
But these are mine, those are yours,
Now they're pronouns, yeah you know the score!

This, that, these, and those—
Demonstratives are words you know.
Pronouns or adjectives—they play their part,
With just a little practice, you'll know them by heart!

This dress is pretty; that cake looks great;
Adjectives describe all the nouns in the place.
But this is sweet; that is bland,
Now they're pronouns just taking a stand!

This, that, these, and those—
Demonstratives are words you know.
Pronouns or adjectives—they play their part,
With just a little practice, you'll know them by heart!

This, that, these, and those—
Demonstratives are words you know,
Pronouns or adjectives—they play their part,
With just a little practice, you'll know them by heart!
