

Personal Pronouns and Antecedents

Lyrics by GrammarFlip

Pronouns take the place of nouns;
They keep your writing clear and sound.
The antecedent is what the pronouns replace.
Know the difference to keep your writing straight.

Sarah loves her bike so much;
"Her" replaces Sarah—it's a simple touch.
Antecedents lead, then the pronoun connects,
Together they keep your writing correct.

Pronouns take the place of nouns;
They keep your writing clear and sound.
The antecedent is what the pronouns replace.
Know the difference to keep your writing straight.

The dogs ran fast; they won the race.
"They" replaces the dogs in this case.
Pronouns and antecedents work as a team;
They make your writing clear and supreme!

Pronouns take the place of nouns;
They keep your writing clear and sound.
The antecedent is what the pronouns replace.
Know the difference to keep your writing straight.

The car is old, but it still runs.
"It" replaces "car"—yeah that's the one.
Use pronouns well so you don't repeat.
Writing with clarity – it can't be beat!

Pronouns take the place of nouns;
They keep your writing clear and sound.
The antecedent is what the pronouns replace.
Know the difference to keep your writing straight.
